Part III DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-3, 5, 7, 13, 16-18, 31, 34-39, 41-44 are pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. § 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371[©] of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

4. Claims 2, 13, 34 and 37 stand rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 102(e) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent 6,106,844, of record, for reasons set forth in Paper No. 34. (B).

5. Claims 1-3, 31 and 34-36 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 102(e) as being anticipated by Daniel et al, of record, for reasons set forth in Paper No. 34. (U).

Applicant's arguments filed 9-11-02 have been fully considered but are not found persuasive.

Applicant argues against each of these references by presenting arguments that there would be no reason why one of skill in the art would do the disclosed invention in view of some of the data presented by each of the references.

However, for a reference to be enabled it has to teach how meet the 35 USC 112 1st paragraph standards of how to make and hoe to use. Each of the references clearly teaches how to make the antigens for therapy and how to administer them intranasally. None of the above references teach the administration of the peptide antigens intranasally does not nor would not work to treat autoimmune diseases. Lastly, IDDM meets the instantly recited claim limitations of a disease which has aberrant, pathogenic or undesirable antibody production, since it is well known that in IDDM, undesirable antibodies are made against insulin.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. § 103 which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Subject matter developed by another person, which qualifies as prior art only under subsection (f) or (g) of section 102 of this title, shall not preclude patentability under this section where the subject matter and the claimed invention were, at the time the invention was made, owned by the same person or subject to an obligation of assignment to the same person.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103^o and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

6. Claims 17, 18 and 41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103 as being unpatentable over Daniel et al. (U), of record for reasons set forth in Paper No.34.

Applicant argues there would have been no motivation to use the findings of Daniel et al., and apply it to humans.

Daniel et al., specifically states that nasal administration of the insulin peptides may be of value in the prevention of Type I diabetes in human subjects, page 960, 1st column, last sentence.

7. Applicant is notified that claims 7, 16, 38-39 and 42-44 are objected to as being dependent upon rejected claims.

8. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for response to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the date of this action. In the event a first response is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event will the statutory period for
